Dear Teachers,

I thank you for having achieved improved academic success for the region and reclaimed personal as well as professional name all around. You showed to the world around that it was possible to make business of academic success and service, both come together. You left hundreds of children and parents much to be grateful for. Many of your children who passed out, secured admissions in the reputed institutions like IITs, NIITs, MBBS, BDS and few went into the defence services. They are all missing you and striving to give all of life its due as you did for them. Your care and the expression of care from your end were immensely helpful to them. You were, for being nothing less than the rock star at guiding the life and career from the original idea to something that actually landed them on better introduction. Your advice along the way helped them shape in the right direction to make it speak to both success and personal lives.

You were more than gracious in helping the slow learners negotiate the time line as few of them lost hopes of achieving. You supported them throughout the difficult time. Levelling them up to pass percentage was its own journey and this one was more different than all the rest of the years. In a very special way you showed them the reality of life and work must work together, as you never knew what either was going to bring. But when they did, they realized there was no other way, and strived ever harder to make them serve success.

I myself feel grateful to you all teachers who gave me the great privilege of being alongside, in your challenges and victories. In fact I count it as a gift to learn with all of you along the way.

I request you to keep the academic momentum built and achieve greater academic success for the current year. I believe the following additional efforts shall help you:

- i. Map out the forces at academics. Child is great depth. The hairs of his head are easier by far to count than his feelings and the movements of his heart. Look into his eyes and you will find he wants big success. See your idea of him, a little model made in your mind and that your judgement would definitely be 'he wants success and he must get it'. No child should fail therefore. Move closer, learn to work with him. When you do this, you are making the images in your mind – which means you are literally remaking the world you live in.
- ii. Go for monthly testing with proper diagnosis done on each occasion. You may use the tool of MRAP & Error Analysis and Academic Adoption which I have been talking about for last two years. It provides the best diagnosis being 'built in safety mechanism' to protect the failure. You may use it religiously and get results. All great successful stories subscribe to this.
- iii. The enthusiasm should be maintained throughout because nothing is achieved without enthusiasm. Success needs hard and smart work. To continue to succeed requires real competence and commitment. We need to have the sustained enthusiasm that motivates us to give our best. The more we give to our success the more it gives to us.
- iv. Only by living for something that lasts like success which is something real – can we achieve the lasting fulfillment, the limitless capacity to achieve success, that is our birth right. There are many things which we cannot discover either by experiment or by reasoning, we deserve to be taught by the importance of success. The proof is that after we achieve success for us or for our children, it follows us throughout, and helps make wise decisions in how to work, how to give our best to our job and to those placed under our care. So get inspired to act on this understanding and successfully attempt the task.

I request you to acknowledge and to report action taken within three days through your Principals.

Yours sincerely,

(Isampal)
