DEPUTY COMMISSIONER

F.DO/2016/KVS(BPL)

Dated: 08/11/2016

Dear Teachers,

Have you ever thought about what separates the achievers who achieve from those who suffer failure? I think the achievers have one thing in common; they share an unwillingness to accept failure. The alternative to achieving is total unwillingness to them. As a result, they figure out what must be done to achieve (e.g. 100% quality pass result).

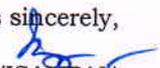

Success is possible as long as you have the following components that can contribute to your dedication to success.

01. leave failure in the dust – so far behind that failure seems a distant memory.
02. accept failure at the price of success today, and keep striving forward.
03. as a successful teacher, be unwilling to accept failure and teach your children to succeed.
04. correct perception of success and response to failure. Nothing else has the same kind of impact on peoples' ability to achieve and to accomplish whatever their minds and hearts desire. You have developed it!
05. stay in your strength zone. Take sometime to figure out what your strengths are, focus down to fewer and fewer things like academics, creating learning for your children as well as yourself. When you learn how good you are in a field like academics, you never settle for achieving anything less than your best.
06. help your students to do the best. Help them find their strength zones and position them there as best as possible. If you don't tell them, then you don't really help them. I have always believed that all children have success seeds within them. Discover them, point them out to them individually. Then fertilize those seeds with encouragement & water of opportunities like proper teaching, learning, writing, monitoring and growing.
07. learn to grow – not just for yourself but for the children who follow you, too.

I know you are ready to make a change through extraordinary results in board classes for the year; and putting in your maximum potential, you are well on your way to bring 100% quality pass result. You know that the only true measure of success is a ratio between what you might have been and what you have become. In other words, success comes as the result of growing your best potential. Potential is God's gift to us, and what we do with it is our gift to Him.

When you know your purpose in life and are growing to make your best potential, you are well on your way to bring a grand success, to set you apart. I pray the year shall fulfill a greatly felt need of 100% quality pass result, which you are wholly committed to. Please mail me back a word of what special you are doing for it, through your principal within three days.

With blessings to all of you,

Yours sincerely,

(ISAMPAL)
